

BROKEN RAINBOW

FILM SCREENING as a benefit for Black Mesa families resisting relocation

Saturday, March 10th - 7:00pm

Film will be followed by a brief Q+A/ discussion.
Resource Center for Nonviolence, 515 Broadway, Santa Cruz (by the int. of Ocean and Broadway).

blackmesais.org
stoppeabody.org blackmesatrust.org
blackmesawatercoalition.org savethepeaks.org (related)

The film “Broken Rainbow” is an Academy Award winning documentary on the struggle of the Diné (Navajo) people at Black Mesa, Arizona, who have been callously cast aside to make room for the environmentally devastating practice of mining coal, oil, uranium, and natural gas. The Diné and their supporters have been battling with Peabody Coal, the BIA, and state/local governments for over 30 years to stop a forced relocation from their homeland and the continuation/ expansion of mining operations.

There will also be a Black Mesa benefit concert on Wednesday, March 14th, from 9pm-1am at 418 Front St., with Naomi, New Thrill Parade, Sourgrass, Ghost Tree and a possible appearance of Diane Patterson.

ALL donated funds from these events will be used for the purchase of food, medicine, and other essential supplies for Diné resisters’ on an upcoming supply and support run from Santa Cruz.

SUPPORT NATIVE RESISTANCE SAVE BLACK MESA!