Petition to save the flea market!

We, the undersigned, urge the County of Santa Cruz to save the flea market! The market provides vital economic functions (like livelihoods; stimulation of the local economy; attracting out-of-area tourists and shoppers; affordable and unique goods; testing ground for new microenterprise; etc.), environmental services (such as re-use of goods, many of which would otherwise find their way to landfills), and social purposes (like buyer-seller interaction, meeting people, adventure shopping and having fun). The market is a Santa Cruz institution!

Since 1971, the property has also been home to a weekend flea market that attracts more than 400 vendors.

In 1989, county supervisors hungry for sales tax revenue struck a deal with local car dealers to create an auto plaza at the site without providing a home for the flea market...10,000 people signed petitions to register their objections.
