

DOUG DURAN/TIMES

Don't be a chicken

EAST BAY ANIMAL ADVOCATES members PJ McKosky, front, of Berkeley and Christine Morrissey of Stockton sit in a chicken cage in front of Lunardi's Supermarket in Danville to protest the store's support of "battery cages," or over-crowded wire cages, for egg production. East Bay Animal Advocates would like all Bay Area-based grocery chains to stop selling eggs from chickens raised in battery cages.