

Free Skool Santa Cruz Presents:

Being John Brown

Anti-racist workshops and discussion group

March 15th: We'll follow a teach-in/training model, confronting our own feelings about race, asking questions like, How can we be more effective allies? What do words like guilt, privilege, ally, and identity mean to you?

May 10th: We'll begin an ongoing and less formal discussion group, exploring what anti-racism means to each of us in this community, supporting each other in confronting racism each and every day.

All are more than welcome, but the discussion will be focused towards the experiences of white-skinned people. Bring a book to suggest, a film to share, and a readiness to confront the racism within and in the communities we inhabit.

Contact: lifeaboveall@yahoo.com

for times and location.

For more classes: <http://santacruz.freeskool.org>

Free Skool Santa Cruz Presents:

Being John Brown

Anti-racist workshops and discussion group

March 15th: We'll follow a teach-in/training model, confronting our own feelings about race, asking questions like, How can we be more effective allies? What do words like guilt, privilege, ally, and identity mean to you?

May 10th: We'll begin an ongoing and less formal discussion group, exploring what anti-racism means to each of us in this community, supporting each other in confronting racism each and every day.

All are more than welcome, but the discussion will be focused towards the experiences of white-skinned people. Bring a book to suggest, a film to share, and a readiness to confront the racism within and in the communities we inhabit.

Contact: lifeaboveall@yahoo.com

for times and location.

For more classes: <http://santacruz.freeskool.org>