The Alameda County Peace and Freedom Party and Movement presents

Reclamation of Earth and Neighborhoods

This month's forum is organized by Norma Harrison, who writes, "My effort is to study with the people who come, the content of life away from the city using exciting farming techniques. This becomes a delicious explanation of support of socialist struggle. It is in line with what Max is going to tell us about working in cities about land use/growing food/organizing communities. Occupy is an effort to counter the State - a different focus, necessary, but not what I was trying to do. If it comes to that that's fine." Max Cadji of Phat Beets will speak. Also, Sally Sommer "will probably come and speak from the Albany Farm Alliance to report on the current status of our campaign for community control of the Gill Tract Farm."
