

Berkeley Critical Mass

This Friday! That's right folks, THOUSANDS IF NOT MILLIONS OF BICYCLISTS SCREAMING DOWN EAST BAY STREETS! Or at least jingling bells and giggling a bit! ☺ The global movement of joyous street reclamations which started in San Francisco ten years ago has now spread to over 300 cities across the Globe. Berkeley was one of the first! Gather at Constution Plaza, at the main entrance of the Downtown Berkeley BART, from 5:30 PM to leave after 6 PM this Friday October 11, 2002 (and every second Friday).

Book Release Party follows the ride

In honor of the publishing of Critical Mass: Bicycling's Defiant Celebration, there will be a book release party with readings, food and drink, a showing of Ted White's Critical Mass documentary, We are Traffic, and if you're lucky...a SMASH THE CAR PIÑATA! At AK Press, 674-A 23rd St.

With global oil war unfolding, how can you afford not to go to Critical Mass? And protest injustice to Berkeley Bicyclists! (Note: Critical Mass has no specific political platform, all are welcome).

<http://www.berkeleycriticalmass.org/>

Printed on 100% Post-Consumer Content, Re-CYCLED Paper (or re-used paper, even better! ...or the best we could do)
