

Attention Activists and Journalists:

Indybay.org

the website of the SF Bay Area Independent Media Center is expanding!

We are creating new regional pages to cover activist events in the South Bay, North Bay, San Francisco, East Bay, North Coast, and more.

We're going to need folks like you to post local news for, edit, and publicize these pages.

It's actually not that hard to post to or edit the site.

We can teach you everything you need to know in a relatively short time.

For an example of what these new pages will look like, please see our current Central Valley news page, which covers events from Sacramento to Bakersfield, and then some.

To find out how you can get involved, come to our meeting on Sunday, November 13th at 5pm at the

ACME Northern California offices
1550 Market Street, San Francisco
(0.6 mile walk from the Civic Center BART)

Before you come to the meeting, please familiarize yourself with Indybay's Principles of Unity, Mission Statement, and History by clicking on "About" at the top of any page on the site.

Thanks, and see you on the 13th!

Indybay's web collective | sfbay-web@indymedia.org