

2007 reel Venezuela:

Film Festival

Four Nights at La Peña

Twelve different videos (see reverse side of this flyer) describe the accomplishments, aspirations, and difficulties confronting political and day-to-day life in Venezuela today. The truth about Venezuela has been and continues to be badly served by most U.S. media, so anyone who wants to see the “real deal” about Venezuela, its visionary and “controversial” people, and their 6-times democratically elected leader, Hugo Chavez, should attend as many of the 2007 reelVenezuela films as they can.

Four nights, the first two Wednesdays and Thursdays in April
April 4 & 5 and April 11 & 12

La Peña Cultural Center (www.lapena.org)

3105 Shattuck Ave., Berkeley near Ashby BART Station

$7 General Admission • $5 Students and Seniors

For film schedule please see reverse side

Co-sponsored by the
Marin Interfaith Task Force On The Americas' Venezuela Committee and La Peña Cultural Center
Design by jmmgarza.com