ENVIRONMENTAL INJUSTICE IN SANTA CLARA COUNTY

“ In a major setback to development plans for Coyote Valley, the city of San Jose plans to revise a key environmental document, responding to a mountain of scathing criticism of the controversial proposal. The city’s planning staff, in a memo released late Wednesday, said the amount and tone of the criticism were “unprecedented,” forcing the department to redo parts of the draft environmental impact report that was issued in April.”

BUT DEVELOPMENT HAS ALREADY BEGUN ON LAST UNDEVELOPED STRETCH OF THE SANTA CLARA VALLEY.

Right now, an office park called the North Coyote Valley Campus Industrial Area is being built. This office park will pave the way for more development to occur in the future.

Tell you elected officials building should stop in Coyote Valley until the environmental review process is complete!
