

Ending^{the} Afghan War

An Evening with Malalai Joya

Saturday, April 9, 2011

Reception with light food 6–7 PM

Program 7–9 PM

with Kaylah Marin

Episcopal Church of
St. John the Evangelist

15th St @ Julian

(btw Mission and Valencia)

San Francisco (16th St BART)

$10–25 no one turned away

Wheelchair Accessible

“We are caught between two enemies—the Taliban on the one side and the US/NATO forces and their warlord allies on the other.”

Malalai Joya has been called the “bravest woman in Afghanistan.” She was the youngest member elected to the Afghan Parliament but was suspended for denouncing the warlords and the US/NATO war and occupation. She continues to speak out despite death threats and assassination attempts. Join us as she talks about the situation in Afghanistan and why it’s essential that US/NATO troops leave immediately.

Her book, A Woman Among Warlords with a new afterward about the war under Obama, is now in paperback and will be available for purchase.

For more information: sfjoya@gmail.com

Sponsored by: Women’s International League for Peace & Freedom (WILPF/SF)

WILPF was founded in 1915 and continues to work for peace, justice and human rights throughout the world. We meet every month in SF and are particularly interested in the impact of militarization and war on women.

Endorsed by: American Friends Service Comm • ANSWER/SF • Arab Resource Organizing Center • BAYAN • Bay Area Jewish Voice for Peace • Bay Area Women in Black • Black Women Stirring the Waters • Buddhist Peace Fellowship • California Women’s Agenda • Catalyst Project • Code Pink/Women for Peace • Courage to Resist • Eastside Arts Alliance • Ecumenical Peace Institute • Freedom Archives • Global Exchange • Grandmothers Against the War • Haiti Action Committee • International Action Center • International Jewish Anti-Zionist Network • International Socialist Organization • KPFA Women’s Magazine • LAGAI • Middle East Children’s Alliance • National Radio Project/ Making Contact • QUIT • San Francisco Women In Black • UNAC • Women for Genuine Security • WILPF/ Berkeley /East Bay • WILPF/ Santa Cruz) • Veterans For Peace Chapter 69