The People's Movement Assembly will build power and momentum toward an "East Bay Social Forum" in June 2012. This Forum is inspired by the U.S. Social Forum that took place in Detroit, where 20,000 people

- half of them young and all of them reflecting the diversity of the entire country - came together for 4 days to build strong and united social movements for housing, health, jobs, justice, immigration, education, ecology, and peace.
