

Standing up for the 99%

Enough is enough—we can't wait any longer. Three years after Wall Street wrecked our economy, 25 million people are still unable to find full-time work and the scandalous income inequality gap between the Super Rich and working families just grows. But instead of creating jobs, Congress keeps focusing on job-killing budget cuts.

The wealthiest 1% in America owns 42% of our nation's wealth.

It's time to declare an Economic Emergency for the 99%. On Nov. 17, we will peacefully join the Occupy movement at sites all across the country and demand an economy and a country that works for everyone, not just the 1%.

Jobs not Cuts!

"I have been so inspired by all my fellow Americans who are occupying Wall Street and hundreds of other cities around our country. One first critical step on the road to recovery is to ensure that all of our children can get a high quality and affordable education that starts in pre-school and runs through college. When we put money into our schools, our teachers, and our students, we are building our economy and our community. And when we are educated, we can participate as citizens, and not merely consumers."

-Matt Nathanson
SEIU 521 Region 2 Vice President

Affordable Education now!

"While many foreign countries make the education of their children a priority, it is a shame that our great country is making "pork projects" a priority over the education of American Children all over the U. S. by closing schools and making higher education unaffordable."

-Martha Booker
SEIU 521 San Benito County President

Stop Corporate greed and subsidies!

"It is time that the politicians start doing their jobs and create a fair society for all working families. Politicians should be concerned with how the economy is impacting people in this country - not corporations. People deserve affordable healthcare, a decent wage, affordable housing, and our children have a right to a better education. We live in a democracy; it's time that all families' voices are heard. Power to the people!"

-Veronica Rodriguez
SEIU 521 Santa Cruz County Chapter
