

Join us as the CEO of the world's largest online bank outlines an approach to using money to build a better society.

The world is changing at a meteoric rate, says ING Direct CEO Arkadi Kuhlmann. Today's leaders need to make quick decisions that maximize new possibilities as they arise. Leaders must be both business people and artists, comfortable making innovative decisions in the face of ambiguity, and these new ways of operating must be embedded in the cultural DNA of their organizations.

Date: February 1, 2012 Time: 5:00 PM

Location: Fort Mason's Cowell Theater, San Francisco

Price: $35 live*, $10 online

All participants will receive an ING Direct Gift of Saving – For Kids with a $50 bonus for free.

* Includes a free copy of Kuhlmann's book, Rock Then Roll: The Secrets of Culture-Driven Leadership, hors d'oeuvres and wine supplied courtesy of Frey Vineyards.

Register now: odenow.com

Upcoming Odenow events

Chris Kilham
Medicine Gatherer, Educator
The Shaman's Pharmacy

FOX News' Medicine Hunter will synthesize his knowledge of medicinal plants, native cultures and modern society to paint an alternate future.

March 8, Los Angeles and Online

Gunter Pauli
Economist, Author, Innovator
Building a Sustainable Future

The author of The Blue Economy will lead a passionate dialogue on the upcoming chapter in the global economic narrative.

March 30, San Francisco and Online

Roy Martina
Holistic Physician
Patient, Heal Thyself

The future of medicine is prevention, says this physician and alternative health pioneer. At this event, you'll learn to treat illness both before and after it emerges.

April 14, San Francisco and Online

Barbara Marx Hubbard
Futurist, Educator, Writer
(R)evolutionary Strategies

Humans have gained the power to shape evolution. The author of The Evolutionary Journey will lay out in rich detail what that might mean for us.

April 25, Online

Register now: odenow.com