

Protect the Value of Your Forest

by creating a forest management plan today

California forests are no longer natural. Human impacts have made them more prone to diseases, insects, and wildfire. Just like your home, your forested land needs to be maintained.

Managing your land can protect it from devastating risks and threats, and can protect the value of your land. Start preserving your legacy by setting up a forest management plan today.

Starting Your Forest Management Plan

Setting up a forest management plan is easy with the help of our online e-learning site. We'll walk you through three basic steps to setting up your plan, and we'll connect you with a professional forester for more personalized assistance.

Earn a $10 gift card to the UCANR book catalog at anrcatalog.ucanr.edu for completing all three steps! Start your plan today at:

www.ucanr.edu/forestplan

In-Person Forestland Management Workshops

Once you've started your forest management plan online, come to one of our in-person trainings for more advanced assistance. All trainings are $25.00 per person and last from 9:30am - 3:00pm. More information and registration is available at: www.ucanr.edu/forestworkshops

Saturday, May 18, 2013

Ukiah • Mendocino County CE Office
890 N. Bush St. Ukiah, CA 95482

Saturday, June 15, 2013

Berkeley • UC Berkeley Campus, Mulford Hall
Room TBA

Wednesday, May 29, 2013

Redding • McConnell Foundation Office
800 Shasta View Drive, Redding, CA 96003

Saturday, June 22, 2013

Auburn • Placer County CE Office
11477 E. Ave. Building #306, Auburn, CA 95603

Learn more and register at: www.ucanr.edu/forestplan

UC
CE | University of California
Agriculture and Natural Resources

Protect the Value of Your Forest

Learn to protect your forestland with the expert help of the University of California

