

A Palestinian Culinary Journey: The Gaza Kitchen

Laila El-Haddad & Maggie Schmitt

On tour with their new book, journalist Laila El-Haddad and co-author Maggie Schmitt use food as a point of departure, offering an introduction to daily life in the embattled Gaza Strip. It is a visit to the intimate everyday spaces which never appear in the news.

Tuesday, October 29, 2013, 7pm

Centennial United Methodist Church

5401 Freeport Blvd, Sacramento

Laila El-Haddad is a key voice for understanding the situation in Gaza. Through her blog and book Gaza Mom and her work as a journalist, media activist, public speaker and policy advisor she provides rare insight into the human experience of the region.

Maggie Schmitt is a researcher and activist working in various media (writing, video, photography, participatory methodologies) on the intersections between 'big' politics and ordinary daily life.

Hosted by Centennial Outreach Committee
Co-sponsored by: Friends of Sabeel Sacramento
Region Sacramento Area Peace Action
FMI: 916-448-7157
SabeelSacramento@gmail.com

El-Haddad & Schmitt will speak at Sacramento City
College on Oct 30 & 31st.
FMI: bahhurr@scc.losrios.edu

