Warrior for animals and the Earth, Rod Coronado is a long-time activist, affiliated with the animal liberation movement, Earth First! and other groups that the government has gone to great lengths to imprison and silence.

Rod is on his first speaking tour in years, advocating for wolves, speaking out against recreational trapping and hunting and the USDA's Wildlife Services program which eradicates hundreds of thousands of predators annually with traps, poisons and aerial gunning.

Both events are wheelchair accessible. More info: 510.548.3113
