

Nonviolence, Conscientious Objection and the Israeli Occupation

Wednesday, October 1, 2014, 7 p.m.
909 12th Street, Sacramento

Moriel Rothman-Zecher will speak about his experiences with conscientious objection (he spent time in military prison in 2012 for refusing to enlist in the Israeli army) and with nonviolent activism and organizing against the occupation.

He will also talk about nonviolent demonstrations in the West Bank and East Jerusalem as well as recent demonstrations and organizing efforts in Tel Aviv against the assault on Gaza, which were met with repression and violence, both from the police and from pro-war counter-protestors.

Doors open @ 6:45 for refreshments. Free. Donations welcome.
