

The Institute for the Critical Study of Society at the Niebyl-Proctor Marxist Library

Sunday Morning at the Marxist Library

Labor and Human Social Metabolism

Our global ecological crisis has created an increasing interest in Marx's theory of metabolic rift as a crucial aspect of capitalism. To appreciate fully how capitalism creates this rift, it is important to examine the human metabolic relation with nature in general and theoretical terms. ICSS member Gene Ruyle will explore the implications of Marx's insight that labor is "the universal condition for the metabolic interaction between man and nature, the everlasting nature-imposed condition of human existence." (Capital, Vol I)

"Excuse me waiter, there's the blood and misery of a thousand
small farmers in my coffee."

Sun, Nov. 16, 2014 - 10:30 am to 12:30 pm

NIEBYL PROCTOR MARXIST LIBRARY

6501 Telegraph Avenue in Oakland

(about 1 mile south of the UC campus, north of Alcatraz)

Plan to come early for coffee and donuts. We start promptly.

FREE - but hat will be passed for donations to NPML

About Sunday Morning at the Marxist Library

A weekly discussion series inspired by our respect for the work of Karl Marx and our belief that his work will remain as important for the class struggles of the future as they have been for the past.

For descriptions and our full schedule, go to icssmarx.org

Info: cuyleruyle@mac.com or Gene Ruyle at 510-428-1578

To subscribe to our weekly reminders, send an email to: cuyleruyle@mac.com

The Institute for the Critical Study of Society at the Niebyl-Proctor Marxist Library

Sunday Morning at the Marxist Library

Labor and Human Social Metabolism

Our global ecological crisis has created an increasing interest in Marx's theory of metabolic rift as a crucial aspect of capitalism. To appreciate fully how capitalism creates this rift, it is important to examine the human metabolic relation with nature in general and theoretical terms. ICSS member Gene Ruyle will explore the implications of Marx's insight that labor is "the universal condition for the metabolic interaction between man and nature, the everlasting nature-imposed condition of human existence." (Capital, Vol I)

"Excuse me waiter, there's the
blood and misery of a thousand
small farmers in my coffee."

Sun, Nov. 16, 2014 - 10:30 am to 12:30 pm

NIEBYL PROCTOR MARXIST LIBRARY

6501 Telegraph Avenue in Oakland

(about 1 mile south of the UC campus, north of Alcatraz)

Plan to come early for coffee and donuts. We start promptly.

FREE - but hat will be passed for donations to NPML

About Sunday Morning at the Marxist Library

A weekly discussion series inspired by our respect for the work of Karl Marx and our belief that his work will remain as important for the class struggles of the future as they have been for the past.

For descriptions and our full schedule, go to icssmarx.org

Info: cuyleruyle@mac.com or Gene Ruyle at 510-428-1578

To subscribe to our weekly reminders, send an email to: cuyleruyle@mac.com