

What's

WRONG with US foreign policy?

... and what would a “progressive” policy look like?

According to polls, foreign policy does not figure among the foremost concerns of American voters—yet it has profound and far-reaching effects on people’s everyday lives, both around the world and in the United States. In this forum, two leading experts on international relations will describe how our global strategy has evolved since the end of the Cold War and how it has changed since the election of Donald Trump. They will also address long-range questions: What sort of foreign policy would allow other nations to pursue their own self-determination and promote stability, peace, justice, and environmental sustainability? And how can progressives incorporate these goals into our expanding movement for social and economic change?

SPEAKERS:

Reese Erlich, best-selling author and award-winning freelance journalist; radio documentary producer and commentator; author of The Iran Agenda Today: the Real Story from Inside Iran and What's Wrong with U.S. Policy (2018)

Phyllis Bennis (speaking via Skype), scholar and activist; director of the New Internationalism Project; founding member of the U.S. Campaign to End the Israeli Occupation; author of Understanding ISIS and the New Global War on Terror: A Primer (2015)

THURS., OCT. 25 • 7–9 PM

San Francisco Unitarian-Universalist Center, Chapel
1187 Franklin St. (at Geary), San Francisco

Wheelchair accessible • Snacks and beverages served

Co-sponsored by San Francisco Progressive Democrats of America
(www.facebook.com/PDASanFrancisco/) and PDA-CA, SF Chapter

What's

WRONG with US foreign policy?

... and what would a “progressive” policy look like?

According to polls, foreign policy does not figure among the foremost concerns of American voters—yet it has profound and far-reaching effects on people’s everyday lives, both around the world and in the United States. In this forum, two leading experts on international relations will describe how our global strategy has evolved since the end of the Cold War and how it has changed since the election of Donald Trump. They will also address long-range questions: What sort of foreign policy would allow other nations to pursue their own self-determination and promote stability, peace, justice, and environmental sustainability? And how can progressives incorporate these goals into our expanding movement for social and economic change?

SPEAKERS:

Reese Erlich, best-selling author and award-winning freelance journalist; radio documentary producer and commentator; author of The Iran Agenda Today: the Real Story from Inside Iran and What's Wrong with U.S. Policy (2018)

Phyllis Bennis (speaking via Skype), scholar and activist; director of the New Internationalism Project; founding member of the U.S. Campaign to End the Israeli Occupation; author of Understanding ISIS and the New Global War on Terror: A Primer (2015)

THURS., OCT. 25 • 7–9 PM

San Francisco Unitarian-Universalist Center, Chapel
1187 Franklin St. (at Geary), San Francisco

Wheelchair accessible • Snacks and beverages served

Co-sponsored by San Francisco Progressive Democrats of America
(www.facebook.com/PDASanFrancisco/) and PDA-CA, SF Chapter