Sunday Morning at the Marxist Library

Support the Embassy Protectors Collective.
U.S. Hands off Venezuela.

Come hear Margaret Flowers, Kevin Zeese, and David Paul who each face one-year prison sentences and $100,000 fines based on the spurious charge of "interfering with government operations.

These courageous Embassy Protectors defended the Washington, D.C. Venezuelan Embassy for 34 days at the request of the Venezuelan government and its only legitimate President Nicolas Maduro.

They will be speaking about their experience that included having to defend themselves and the embassy against violent well financed right wing Venezuelans living in the US and the complicity of Federal Police. The three will also give an update on the details of their case and the struggle against the US imperialist drive to economically strangle the Bolivarian Revolution and its social gains.

The presentation at NPML is part of a Bay Area Tour that includes Sacramento, Berkeley, Oakland, Santa Rosa and San Jose. About Sunday Morning at the Marxist Library

A weekly discussion series inspired by our respect for the work of Karl Marx and our belief that his work will remain as important for the class struggles of the future as they have been for the past.
